Bush-honeysuckle (BH) pictured below are non-native shrubs of various species also known as Lonicera maackii.

Why is BH forest enemy# 1 to foresters, ecologists, biologists and land managers? One reason is because BH creates shade by forming its own low-canopy and the shade displaces our native ground-covers such as the spring and summer wildflowers.

Buy, Sell and Saw Illinois Wood!

Those wildflowers and other native plants are what adsorbs and filters water into the ground, or down a slope, in conjunction with the duff layer and tree roots.

The BH also displaces and prevents oak-hickory forest regeneration. If a oak seedling cohort from a good acorn year develops on the forest floor most seedlings will die under BH's shade.

A slow invasion of bush honeysuckle at first—when it is easy to control—is often unnoticed. In a few short years the forest becomes hard to walk through; then near impenetrable. BH attains a few inches in diameter and heights to 10+ feet

The best approaches are not to let it grow and spread. Young shrubs up to 1/2- 1 inch diameter can be quickly hand pulled when the ground is saturated.

Herbicides are available for a number of treatment methods yet glyphosate ("round-up") at 100% concentration lightly applied to a fresh cut stump will kill the root system dead any time of year. If the infestation is heavy, landowners of 20-40+ forest acres can hire aviation service to fall apply glyphosate in Oct-Nov after native plants harden off and BH is still growing.

Help save and protect our oak-hickory forests by killing BH! pmd

conserve only what we love; we will love only what we understand; and we will understand only what we are taught."*

Policy Statements:

Illinois forests and woodlands are critical to the citizens of Illinois and globally far beyond the singular value of wood and fiber production. The Division of Forest Resources integrates and requires on state land and cooperating private lands that important other concerns of soil, water, wildlife, habitats, recreation, aesthetics and cultural resources are addressed while growing, harvesting and regenerating forests. We advocate and outreach forest management principles to all Illinois forest owners.

Demands on Illinois forest resource for all goods and services the forest can provide continue to increase while nearly 90% of Illinois forests remain privately owned. To conserve, enhance and expand the benefits and critical function of Illinois forests it is necessary that forest landowners, government agencies, forest industry and citizens at large work together.

Equal opportunity to participate in programs of the Illinois Department of Natural Resources and those funded by the U.S. D.A. and other agencies is available to every individual regardless of race, sex, national origin, disability, age, religion, or other non-merit factors. If you believe you have been discriminated against contact civil rights office and/or the Equal Opportunity Officer, IDNR, One Natural Resources Way, Springfield, IL 62702-1271; 217-785-0067; TTY 217-782-9175.

9. Illinois forestry Best Management Practices will be followed.
10. The trees marked with a “slash” or “X” have NOT been tallied and the volume in these trees has not been included in the sale. The successful bidder can harvest these trees or cut and leave them in the woods.

Ash trees have been tallied and included in the summary above. Many of the ash have died over the past one to two years. I believe that many will still yield sound lumber, but the buyer should take care to inspect and determine the overall condition and quality of these trees.
