

A satellite map showing a large area of land with a red boundary. The boundary is a thick red line that follows a complex path, enclosing a large portion of the image. Two yellow dots are placed on the map, one to the left of the text '20033L' and one to the left of the text '20222L'. The text is in a bold, white, sans-serif font. The background is a satellite image showing a mix of green vegetation and brown/tan patches, possibly indicating different land uses or vegetation types. The overall tone is dark green.

20033L

20222L