

Casual Visitors

Wood-warblers

According to the Illinois Ornithological Society, a casual visitor is a species for which there are at least six records in the state and three to seven records in the past ten years.

Swainson's warbler
Limnothlypis swainsonii

black-throated gray warbler
Setophaga nigrescens

Kirtland's warbler
Setophaga kirtlandii

Townsend's warbler
Setophaga townsendi

Swainson's warbler is found in the southeastern United States. Kirtland's warbler has small breeding populations in Wisconsin and Michigan. Black-throated gray warblers and Townsend's warblers are west coast species.

