

ESPB Illinois List of Endangered and Threatened Species review and revision process

ESPB petition process and forms for recommending changes to the Illinois List of Endangered and Threatened Species

The ESPB has established a petition process and forms for anyone wishing to make recommendations for changes to the Illinois List – adding a species, removing a species, or changing the listed status of a species. The process and forms are intended to provide a standardized, transparent, and equally accessible means for anyone to petition the ESPB about changes to the Illinois List.
