Union County State Fish and Wildlife Area is a haven for many diverse forms of wildlife. The most prominent throughout five months of the year is the phenomenal flock of Canada geese and other waterfowl that winter on the area. Visitors commonly observe white-tailed deer, bald eagles, and many other interesting types of wildlife. Public use of interior gravel roads is restricted except when permission is granted for special circumstances such as research and site tours. All such activities must be approved in advance by scheduling with the Site Superintendent. Call the site office at (618) 833-5175 with inquiries.

Throughout the fall and winter months, very large flocks of Canada geese and ducks are concentrated along the Refuge Drive. Few places in Illinois exist where so many wild geese and ducks can be closely observed and photographed in their natural habitat.

Fishing

Fishing is permitted in Grassy Lake from March 1 to October 15. Outboard motor size is limited to 10 horsepower or less. Grassy Lake is a shallow, fertile bottomland lake with catfish being the primary sport fish attraction.

Excellent early spring and late summer bluegill and crappie fishing exists in Lyerla Lake. Fishing is permitted from March 1 to October 15, with outboard motor size limited to 10 horsepower or less. A boat launch is available on Lyerla Lake adjacent to Reynoldsville Road.

Hunting

Approximately 2,050 acres at the south end of the site are designated as a public hunting area. Duck hunting with non-toxic shot is on a permit basis, with permits being issued from the Springfield office upon application by interested hunters. A daily permit fee is required with blinds and transportation to the field provided. There is a daily charge for rented decoys

Of the 5,350-acre land area, approximately 2,400 acres are cultivated. The remaining acreage is in timber, brush or permanent grass cover. By far the most intensive activity on the area is farming. Each year, a variety of hard grain and green forage crops are planted and left standing to provide food for wintering geese. More than 2,400 acres of corn, sunflower, wheat, clover and other crops are established for this purpose.

The Area

Area remains consistently among the top clubs in the State for number harvested waterfowl.

The Union County State Fish and Wildlife Area was acquired by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources in the late 1940s and developed a wintering goose population in excess of 50,000 birds by 1964. Since then, controlled harvest through the quota system and continued provision of quality winter sanctuary and food produced a total southern Illinois winter population of more than 600,000 Canada geese. The Union County segment of this population grew to nearly 150,000. Today, with changes in migration patterns, habitat, and environmental factors north of the site, visitors can expect to see more if hunters do not bring their own. A total of 35 blinds can accommodate 70 hunters each day. A drawing is held each morning to allocate blinds to permit holders. A wheelchair accessible blind is also available, with an accessible outdoor restroom and check station. Call the site for details.

Additional hunting opportunities exist for deer, squirrel, ducks and doves both on the Public Hunting Area in the Firing Line Unit, and the two satellite locations: Devil's Island WMA and Cape Bend SFWA. Collection of artifacts, flora and fauna is strictly prohibited on the site. All hunters must sign in and out at the hunters' registration boxes on the site. For specific regulations on mushroom and antler shed collecting and for all other questions, contact the site office.
