The Rapid Assistance Flood Team (RAFT)

The Illinois Association for Floodplain and Stormwater Management (IAFSM) created the Rapid Assistance Flood Team (RAFT) to assist communities in times of flooding or other natural disasters. Every year, flooding occurs somewhere in Illinois. Often, leaving the local floodplain manager overwhelmed. Illinois is blessed with some of the best floodplain managers in the entire nation. These floodplain experts can help communities complete the required damage assessment following a flood.

With nearly 1,000 members, the IAFSM is the nation's oldest and one of the largest professional floodplain management associations. IAFSM has become the voice of floodplain management within the State of Illinois.

Volunteering

If you are interested, you must be active in the IAFSM and be a Certified Floodplain Managers (CFMs).

Volunteers come from local, state and federal government, the private sector, and other professional disciplines. RAFT members have experience or will pursue training in post-flood responsibilities. By volunteering you agree to assist other communities in times of need, based on your availability. We will use consistent and industry accepted damage assessment methods, selected by IAFSM, to ensure accuracy, equitability and efficiency. Required volunteer forms are provided in this guide.

RAFT Assistance Requests

Local officials who need help with post flood damage assessments can request RAFT assistance through the IAFSM Floodplain Management Chair. Contact information is provided in this guide along with an example request letter.

The Floodplain Management Chair will coordinate all requests for RAFT volunteers. RAFT members participate when a request is made based on their availability. RAFT volunteers will travel on a work-day basis and are not reimbursed for hours, travel, or per diem. There is no charge to the community for travel or per diem and no overnight lodging is assumed. However, if there is overnight lodging, expenses will be the responsibility of the host community.

If you have additional questions, please review the Q and A section at the end of this guidance.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q: What is the RAFT?

A: RAFT is the Rapid Assistance Flood Team. Members of the RAFT are all active in the IAFSM. Members are all Certified Floodplain Managers. They represent local, state and federal government, the private sector, and other professional disciplines. RAFT members all have experience and training in post-flood responsibilities. RAFT members are all volunteers and have agreed to assist other communities in times of need.

Q: What is the purpose of RAFT?

A: Often, local floodplain managers will be overwhelmed following a flood. Illinois is blessed with some of the best floodplain managers in the entire nation. The Illinois Association of Floodplain and Stormwater Managers has coordinated a program to provide these experts free-of-charge to local officials following a flood.

Q: Who can belong to RAFT?

A: RAFT volunteers must be pre-approved by IAFSM. They must be Certified Floodplain Managers and have the experience to assist the host community. Volunteers provide their own vehicle and equipment. RAFT volunteers must sign liability waiver forms annually.

Q: Will RAFT assistance cost my community?

A: No, RAFT members volunteer their time. Per diem and travel are not reimbursed by IAFSM.

Q: How does my community request RAFT assistance?

A: A formal request letter must be sent to the IAFSM Floodplain Management Chairman. This letter also serves as a release of liability.

Q: How long can I expect RAFT volunteers to help?

A: IAFSM estimates that in most cases, RAFT volunteers can complete damage assessments in a day or two. If overnight lodging is required, it must be provided by the host community.
